BOOK REVIEW

In Paradise (Heaven), a group of angels work together in what is known as “the office of desires” to help those on Earth find a partner. Michele has longed to meet the woman of his dreams, however it seems every time he thinks he has found “the one” it is not to be.

The angels receive a request for help from Michele and after searching through their computer, come upon Perla, who seems an ideal match for Michele. Due to Michele’s past failures at romance, the angels decide to enlist the help of their specialist, Pippo.

Pippo travels to Earth and devises a plan for Michele and Perla to meet and although the plan appears to be a success and the two arrange a meeting, all is not well in Paradise. Pippo has done something an angel must never do. Can he rectify the situation before it is too late?

Will Michele finally find his “Amore in Paradiso” or be doomed to a lonely, single life? The ending may surprise you ...
